

Robertson Group

Martin & Pia have a long standing relationship with Scottish property and construction group Robertson.

Having worked with the group's Chief Operating Officer Derek Shewan since 2006, Mackenzie England has been engaged by a number of the Robertson Group companies to uncover, source and secure talent for a variety of management roles at both middle and senior management levels.

"They are extremely effective in taking a brief on the job and thereafter source a range of excellent candidates which meet all of our expectations. They provide us with a choice that allows us to select the candidate with the level of skill and experience that best suit the position and the company. They are genuine Specialists and deliver on their promises.

I would have no hesitation in recommending both Martin and Pia. "
